MINUTES

Steve reviewed the Agenda for the evening and the minutes of the previous meeting were approved.

COMMUNITY INPUT

The Blackburn Minor Hockey Association will be delivering the BANAR in October and April.

OUTSTANDING ISSUES

A motion was raised to increase the membership fees to $10.00 by M. Martin, Seconded by N. Morris, Agreed.

The production of the BANAR was also discussed. A number of options were proposed to reduce the costs including: 1) cut down on number of pages 2) reduce space for service adds, 3) limit free advertisement i.e. monthly updates, public service, special events 4) drop number of distribution copies 5) lighter weight of paper.

There were some discussions on the possibility of reducing the costs of fundraising activities i.e. maintenance costs, band hiring, sales on purchase of food and drinks. The time and effort spent to coordinate these activities raised some questions also. Steve suggested that we restructure the coordinators job descriptions and develop a new concept to organize these activities. To be discussed at next meeting. Mike to follow-up on financial aspects.

DIRECTORS REPORTS

Jim announced that there will be an All-candidates-meeting for the Federal election on October 4, 1993 at 8:00 at the Emily Carr Middle School. Jim expects about 400 to 500 people to attend. The meeting will be chaired by Steve. There will be an opening statement from each candidate for approximately 5 minutes. Questions from the audience will be raised to each candidate with 1 1/2 minute closing statement. This is an open forum.

The construction on Bearbrook Road has raised some concerns from residents of Blackburn. A letter will be sent to the Commissioner of Parks and Recreation for more information.

Jim distributed a copy of the terms of reference for the new Community Recreation and Parks Boards. Each of the CRPBs will be responsible for managing recreation and parks services and recreation programs. The new Leisure Services Delivery System will be in effect in January 1994. Grants will be given in the same fashion as last years with a few exceptions.

Marjorie reported on the Leadership Training Program. The course duration was for 6 weeks which included skills development sessions, special outings and work placement in various recreation programs.

Mike has attended a few other meetings concerning Community Policing. The development and implementation phases are still in progress. Mike to follow-up.

Neil reported that the membership canvassing will be ongoing in October and we are still looking for volunteers.

The meeting was adjourned at 10:20.

Next Meetings:
October 21, 1993
November 18, 1993

PROCES-VERBAL

Steve a révisé l'ordre du jour de la soirée et le compte-rendu de la réunion précédente a été approuvé.

COMMUNAUTE

L'Association pour hockey mineur de Blackburn fera la distribution du BANAR en octobre et avril prochain.

POURSUIVI DE L'AN PASSE

Une motion a été passé pour augmenter le taux de cotisation à 10.00$. Appuyé par M. Martin, Approuvé N. Morris, Accepté.

La production du BANAR a aussi été discutée. Certaines propositions ont été mentionnées telles que: 1) décroître le nombre de pages 2) réduire l'espace pour les petites annonces 3) limité la publicité gratuite; ex. annonces mensuels, service public, événements spéciaux 4) décroître le nombre de copies pour distribution 5) feuilles de papier plus légères.

De plus, il a été discuté des possibilités de réduire les couts des activités pour la levée des fonds, ex. réparation des équipements, achats des boissons et de l'alimentation, club de musique. Le temps et l'effort pour organiser ses activités a soulevé plusieurs questions. Steve suggère que l'on restructure les descriptions de tâches des coordonnateurs et que l'on développe un nouveau concept pour organiser ces activités. Pour discussion à la prochaine réunion. Mike fera le poursuivi concernant les états financiers.

RAPPORTS DES MEMBRES

Jim a annoncé qu'il y aura une assemblée des participants pour l'élection fédérale le 4 octobre prochain à l'école Emily Carr Middle School à 20h00. Jim s'attend à recevoir 400 à 500 visiteurs. La réunion sera dirigé par Steve. Chaque candidats devra discuté pour 5 minutes. Le public est invité à posé des questions. Les candidats auront 1 1/2 minutes pour répondre aux questions. Ceci est un forum ouvert.

Le réaménagement sur le chemin Bearbrook a posé quelques questions parvenant des résidents de Blackburn. Une lettre sera envoyée au Commissaire des Parcs et Loisirs pour plus d'information.

Jim a distribué une copie du mandat pour le nouveau "Community Recreation and Parks Boards". Chaque CRPBs sera responsable pour la gestion des programmes de loisirs et la récréation des services des parcs. Le nouveau Service de loisir sera en vigueur en Janvier 1994. Les fonds seront distribués de la même façon que l'année passé à part de quelques exceptions.

Marjorie a discuté du programme de formation pour Leadership. Le cours était d'une durée de 6 semaines incluant des sessions de développement des aptitudes, activités spéciales et emplois disponibles dans différents programmes de loisirs.

Mike a participé à des réunions concernant le service communautaire et la police. Les phases de développement et d'exécution sont maintenant en vigueur. Mike fera le poursuivi.

Neil a mentionné que la levée des cotisations se poursuivra en octobre et nous sommes toujours à la recherche de volontaires.

Ajournement: 22h20.

Your Councillor's Report

Bill 77 - Regional Reform Becomes a Reality

You will no doubt recall the considerable interest generated this past year by the provincially appointed Kirby Commission, which toured the area seeking public input prior to the publication, in November, of a report recommending various changes to regional government in Ottawa-Carleton.

Sometime this fall, the Ontario government will introduce Bill 77, the legislation which will make many of the recommendations of the Kirby Commission and two previous similar studies, into law. The aim of the new legislation is to ensure that future regional councils have a stronger regional focus which is unencumbered by internal competition among local municipalities and which will provide more streamlined, centralized services. There are, however, four proposed changes in particular which have an impact on Gloucester.

1) Regionalization of Police Services

Regionalization of police services is not going to improve service in Gloucester. We have an effective and efficient service, whereas Ottawa costs at least 50% more per capita. Have you ever heard of costs coming down to the lower level? Ottawa has a 40-50 million dollar liability on its accumulated sick leave program which the Region would have to pick up as well.

2) Regionalization of the Sewer System

Ottawa also has a potential burden of one billion dollars to repair its neglected sewer system. If the entire system becomes a regional responsibility, we will all share that burden.

3) Acquisition of Land for Economic Development will be Regional

On economic development, it's a harder shot to call. Will the interest of the smaller parts suffer for the sake of the whole?

4) Removal of Mayors from Regional Council

I feel that this is the least important issue. Local mayors have expended tremendous energy lobbying to ensure their continued role, implying that the sky will fall if they are not there, which is nonsense. The new councillors from the whole region will be capable of representing the various interest groups. The mayors do not have any divine presence which specially blesses them.

The Ottawa-Carleton region as a whole, does of course stand to gain as a result of many of the changes Bill 77 will bring. Certainly, some services are better provided by an umbrella organization than by each individual municipality. Moreover, promotion of the entire Ottawa-Carleton region as a single entity to outside business interests could be advantageous. I do hope, however, that this entire exercise is not the first phase of a move towards one-tier government.

Hepatitis B Vaccine: Do My Children Or I Need It?

Hepatitis is an infection of the liver. Hepatitis B is one of several viruses that can cause hepatitis. Most people who get Hepatitis B recover completely within weeks to months. Ten percent of adults who get Hepatitis B infection will always carry the virus, and they can then infect others. They can also develop chronic hepatitis, with various degrees of liver damage and increased risk of liver cirrhosis and liver cancer. Rarely, Hepatitis B can cause an immediate severe illness that causes death within days.

Hepatitis B is usually spread through contact with blood, or by sexual intimacy. However, thirty to forty percent of people infected with Hepatitis B have no recognized risk factor for catching it. In 1989 in Canada the annual incidence of acute Hepatitis B infection was 13 per 100,000, and the death rate was 1.5 per million.

The Canadian Pediatric Society, the Canadian National Advisory Committee on Immunization, and the American Academy of Pediatrics, have all recommended routine immunization against Hepatitis B for all infants and children, as well as adults at high risk of the disease. British Columbia is the only province to act on this recommendation. It appears that the other provinces have not acted because of cost considerations. The three-dose vaccine schedule now costs about $150, bulk purchase of the vaccine by a province could lower the cost to about $30.

Why vaccinate young children when they are unlikely to be receiving blood, and when they are not sexually active? There are several reasons. It ensures vaccination before they are of an age to adopt high-risk behavior. It can prevent the 30% to 40% of cases of acute hepatitis B in people without risk factors. It prevents the transmission of Hepatitis B during childhood, when the risk of developing ongoing disease, and liver cancer, is much higher.

The Hepatitis vaccine is very safe. It is made using recombinant DNA technology. Side effects are mild. There is some question about how long the vaccine is effective when given to infants. They may require a booster shot around ten years of age.

Your family doctor can inform you about the risks and benefits of Hepatitis B vaccination. If you are the parent of a young child or teenager, you should discuss vaccination of your child with your family doctor. If you are at risk yourself, then you should discuss this with your doctor.

THE REAL ESTATE CORNER

BY ARMAND BEDIRIAN AND GLENN PAPINEAU

HOW TO NEGOTIATE AN OFFER

You've found a home that you like and you're ready to make an offer. But before you do so, make sure you are prepared. Purchasing real property is a substantial undertaking involving a great deal of money. And price is not the only issue upon which the purchaser and the seller need to agree. Much of the negotiation process depends on the state of the market, conditions in the offer, individual psychology, and how realistically the home was listed. Here are some guidelines that can help reduce the anxiety for both buyers and sellers.

How Much to Offer

The proper way to negotiate the purchase of real property is to prepare a formal written offer, along with a deposit to show good faith. The written offer spells out all the terms and conditions under which you are willing to purchase the property. Your real estate agent can prepare this for you.

If you want to get a home for less than the asking price, don't make the mistake of believing that you can get a better deal by buying directly from a seller. "For-sale-by-owners" tend to exaggerate their home's worth. It is important that you find a reputable real estate agent who will work for you.

When it comes to make an offer, the big question is: "How much?" Your real estate agent can provide you with a market analysis, but on average, real estate sells at about three to five per cent below asking price. But this doesn't mean you should make all your offers three to five per cent below asking price. Some homes sell for 10 per cent below listed price, while others sell for above the listed price, especially when more than one interested buyer is involved. It's important to maintain your objectivity throughout the negotiating process. If you allow yourself to get caught up in a bidding war with another potential buyer, or if you fall in love with one house to the exclusion of all others, you can easily wind up paying more than market value or more than you can afford. Establish the highest amount you will pay, and stick with it even if you lose out on a possible purchase.

At the same time, it's a known fact that exceptionally low offers are rarely successful. Often a seller won't even consider a really low offer, and if you decide to try again at a higher price, another home? Is it a marriage breakup or an estate sale? Events such as these can have a significant impact on price and terms.

The seller's treatment of your offer may also depend on how long the seller's home has been on the market; whether you can make an offer that will not require a vendor take-back mortgage; whether you can make an offer that does not hinge on selling your home; and whether there is a competing buyer.

The agent working with you should also investigate the market by looking at how well other houses in the area are moving. If there are selling quickly and prices are increasing, your offer should be structured accordingly.

All agreements pertaining to the sale of the home must be in writing and signed by the buyer and seller. So, if you require certain financing or the right to inspect the home before the closing, put it in the contract.

Overall, you may have to try many offers on many houses before you're able to buy one at your price. If you're only able to pay $135,000 and you're looking in an area of $150,000 homes, perhaps you should buy when the market is slow or look for a seller who must get out immediately.

Sell Your House at an Acceptable Price

As a seller, you want to get as much money as you can for your property without passing it off as something it is not. You do not want to be easy on terms, nor so unyielding that a buyer is not drawn into negotiations.

Keep in mind that your goal is to sell your house at an acceptable price. Setting a fair price for your house is the quickest way to ensure that you will be able to sell it. Your real estate agent can help you assess the trend of the market and determine a fair price for your property.

If the first offer on your house is a reasonable one, try to work with it, especially if your house has been on the market for some time. Keep in mind that everything is negotiable at a price.

Most importantly, do not appear anxious to sell. It will only harden the buyer's position. Some buyers may also try to change terms in the final stages of the sale. Be firm. The buyer has invested as much time and money in the sale as you have, and will not want to see things fall apart. If minor concessions can save the deal, then you may want to agree to them. But in general, determine what you want from the sale from the beginning and don't let last minute demands change these needs.

Look at the Offer as a Whole

On the whole, both buyers and sellers should pay close attention to the value of the offer as a you will have lost some credibility. Also, a really low offer will often prompt a really high counteroffer from a seller, who knows the end price may wind up somewhere in the middle and therefore keeps his end up as high as possible. While this negotiating is going on, another purchaser may bring in a fair market value offer and the seller will simply stop dealing with you. Your best advice about the price that you should offer will come from your real estate agent.

Negotiating Price and Terms

If the seller is firm on the price, then negotiate terms. If the seller is firm on terms, then negotiate price. These are the basic principles of the bargaining process.

It may not be easy, but if you can learn as much as possible about the seller, you will also be able to strengthen your bargaining position. Is he transferred out of town? Has he bought whole. Too many people get caught up in price negotiation without considering the value of conditions, closing dates, work to be done before closing and items to be included/excluded in the transaction.

Any offer that contains subject conditions clauses, such as sale of the buyer's current home, is worth less to the seller than a "clean" (no subject) offer. If you are a buyer with these types of conditions, you may have to increase your price to compensate.

Overall, a little cooperation on both sides will certainly facilitate a satisfactory ending for all concerned.

BLACKBURN HAMLET PRESCHOOL UPDATE

Have you ever thought how great it would be to have a computer around the house for the kids and for you? But you find the cost a little daunting? How does $2 sound? That's all it costs to buy a ticket on a RAFFLE the Preschool is holding as a fundraiser. FIRST PRIZE is a Raynon COMPUTER (486-dx2-66 with CD-ROM) valued at $3700!! Other great prizes include snowplowing a driveway for the winter (remember your aching back last winter?!), driveway sealing in the spring, a great Ottawa Roughriders jacket and an electric toothbrush. TICKETS are available to the public from preschool parents. Make sure you get yours. The draw will be held Dec. 10.

And speaking of December, Christmas is just around the corner. mark your calendar for NOVEMBER 17 at 8 p.m. to do some quality gift shopping for kids at the PRESCHOOL ANNUAL SALE. Toys, books and clothes will be available for browsing and buying.

During the month of october at the Preschool the children were settling happily into their routine and began preparing for Hallowe'en. A trip to Patterson's Pumpkin Patch was a highlight.

There is still one space available in the 3 afternoon program. For information call Registrar Betty Smith at 824-7834 or Director Phyllis Frost at 824-3251, after 1:30 p.m.
